

COAXIAL CONNECTOR WITH TORQUE LIMITING CONTROL

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An electrical connector is provided that includes a base portion configured for stationary mounting to a circuit board and an interface portion configured for mating to a plug assembly. The interface portion is configured for rotational movement relative to the base portion when a predetermined torque is applied to the interface portion.